Highlights

- A framework for selecting neural architectures under uncertainty in limited data.
- Bayesian model evidence and validation balance forecast accuracy and model complexity.
- The framework rejects under- and over-parameterized temporal convolutional networks.
- Plausibility-weighted ensembles improve probabilistic forecast robustness.
- Bayesian TCNs are applied to individualized glucose forecasting in diabetic patients.